

Phono Box DS2 USB

„...guarantees highest channel separation. Keep on rockin' baby!“

In terms of sound and processing, the Phono Box DS2 USB does not have to hide behind its classmates of the audiophile upper level. A dual mono construction guarantees highest channel separation. Positive is the lack of character of the Pro-Ject DS2 USB. Even as a pure preliminary stage, the Phono Box DS2 USB is one of the most neutral speakers in the genre. Acting dynamically on the agile side, she hides flavor enhancers and fillers - you get to hear exactly what was preserved on the record.

Vinyl may have been more revealing or grooving, but may not be more honest and direct. The sense of well-being must provide the admission, as usual with ordinary plants. Nevertheless, someone is happy about less audiophile inventory of the record collection, since one can burn one's own youthful sins to a CD or, as a compressed format in a car, turn it really loud. Keep on rockin ', baby!
